THE ARMY EQUIPAGE.

Their Shipment From Frankfort to London Has Been Stopped.

The Removal of the Arsenal Equipment Was the Subject of a Red-Hot Resolution Being Introduced in the Senate.

London, Ky., March 4.-Two full car loads of army equipage, including small arms, two Gatling guns, five cannons and large quantity of ammunition of all kinds, arrived here dressed to Col. Roger Williams. Capt. Parker, of the London company of state guards, is in charge of the war implements, and has a strong guard over them. The meaning of this move is not generally understood here.

Frankfort, Ky., March 6.-Shipment of the guns and ammunition of war to London contined Monday. Car-load of small arms and other equipments was shipped Monday morning. The Gatling gun and other arms in use by the soldiers on the state house square are of course still here.

Frankfort, Ky., March 6 .- In the democratic senate Monday Senator Bell introduced a bill which is aimed at Republican Gov. Taylor and republican minor state officials. The bill provides that any state officer who shall forcibly hold possession of the office for a larger period than five days after the legislature or state contest board shall have declared another person legally elected, shall be guilty of felony.

There was more war talk in the democratic senate Monday. Senator Triplett, anti-Goebel democrat, offered a resolution to investigate the truth of published reports concerning shipment of state guns and military paraphanalia to London by Republican Gov. Taylor, and to demand the return of same to the state arsenal. If the reports are found to be true and return of them is refused, the committee appointed to make the investigation shall then bring in a bill making an appropriation of $250,000 to buy new guns and also authorizing Gen. John B. Castleman to issue a call for a sufficient number of volunteers to take the guns from those now in possession of them and return them to the arsenal.

Frankfort, Ky., March 6.-The orders for shipment of guns and ammunition from the state arsenal to London, Ky., by the republican state authorities was revoked, and a car loaded with munitions of war consigned to London was unloaded and its contents returned to the arsenal here. The officials give no reason for the change of programme. The soldiers, acting under orders, worked all forenoon loading the car. There is a report that the war department at Washington interfered and has ordered the guns and ammunition taken in a critical condition are without to London to be returned here.

Frankfort, Ky., March 7.-A crowd which packed the Franklin county circuit court room to its doors gathered Tuesday morning to hear the examining trial of Harlan Whittaker, the Butler county farm hand, who is suspected of being implicated in the murder of State Senator William Goebel. A number of prominent ladies were present. Before the hearing begun the charge, on request of the county attorney, was changed from malicious shooting to murder. Whit taker was nervous and ill at ease when brought into the room. Thirteen witnesses, all summoned by the commonwealth, were called. The first witnesses sworn were men wno had been concerned in the arrest of Whittaker on the morning of the assassination. These witnesses were John A. Miles, A. Miller, Detective Armstrong, Constable Davis Harrod, and Policeman Thompson. Armstrong and Harrod swore that Whittaker had contradicted himself in stating his whereabouts on the capitol square at the moment the fatal shots were fired. At 12:20 o'clock court adjourned until 2 p. m. The last witness called during the forenoon was Charles Howard, a farmer, who said Whittaker told him a week before the shooting he had come to Frankfort to protect Gov. Taylor's life. Howard declared that just after Goebel fell he saw one of the Philpots and two of the Howards, Berry and Jim, members of well known mountain families, in the door of the executive building, heavily armed. He said that he was deputed by the sheriff to guard the capitol grounds, but was ordered away by the commanding officer when the troops arrived. None of the witnesses for the defense were named during the morning. It was believed Whittaker's attorneys had a surprise in store for the other side.

Wingate Thompson, the policeman who took Whittaker to jail, said on the way the prisoner cried out in fear: "Don't let them mob me and I'll tell all I know about it; but . didn't shoot him."

afternoon by the state, Whittaker's attorneys submitted the case. Judge Union Teachers' Agencies of America Moore ordered Whittaker held to the and the Bureau of Civil Service In-April grand jury without bail.

SECRETARY ROUT'S MISSION.

The Havana Newspapers Indulge in Much Speculation Over His Visit to That City.

Havana, March 8.—The local papers indulge in much speculation as to the reason for the visit of Secretary Root, but almost without exception they say that Mr. Root is welcome and that they hope he will not only enjoy the experience, but that he will learn more about the Cuban people than he ever could by reading newspaper dispatches and opinions, which give such varying opinions that no man can tell what to believe.

One journal says: "Secretary Root is less liable than some others to be over the L. & N. from Frankfort, ad- led astray by casual talk, for the people with whom he is most likely to come in contact will be Cubans of intelligence and foresight."

The military reception at the palace was largely attended by American officers and their families.

SMALLPOX IN MISSISSIPPI.

Nearly One Hundred Deaths Have Occurred From the Disease in One Small Neighborhood.

Jackson, Miss., March 8 .-- An official report made to the Hinds county board of supervisors reveals an appalling state of affairs in the Jonesville neighborhood, in the southern part of the county. The community is literally honeycombed with smallpox of the most virulent and loathsome form, and during the past six weeks nearly 100 deaths have occurred. On some days the deaths were so large that it was impossible to secure coffins and rude caskets were made from rails. Whole families have been wiped out of existence, and of several large families only one or two children are left.

Many of the patients who are now medical attention and dying at the rate of from three to five per day. The death rate exceeds 75 per cent., and the entire lower portion of the county is demoralized. A bill for 43 coffins used within the past two weeks was # Shot His Wife and Himself.

Omaha, Neb., March 8 .- As a result of jealousy, Frank Steele shot and mortally wounded his wife and then killed himself at the residence of Rev. A. F. Nelson. Steele and his wife were calling at Rev. Nelson's, when Steele suddenly pulled a revolver and fired a shot at his wife, chasing her into another room and firing two bullets into her. He then shot himself twice and fell dead. Mrs. Steele was taken to the Clarkson hospital. She is in a critical condition and is likely to die. Steele thought his wife was unfaithful.

A Suspicious Case in San Francisco. San Francisco, March 8.-A case of what is believed to be bubonic plague, though the exact nature of the disease is yet uncertain, has been discovered in Chinatown. The patient, who is a Chinese residing at 1004 Dupont street, was immediately isolated and the whole of Chinatown has been placed under strict quarantine regulations. No fear is apprehended of the spread of the disease, whatever it may prove to be.

Thirty-Four Dead Bodies Taken Out of a West Virginia Shaft.

It Is Believed That There Are Still Thirty-Nine Miners Entombed. With No Possible Prospects of Any Being Alive.

Hinton, W. Va., March 7.- The most terrific and disastrous explosions that has ever occurred in this section occurred Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock at Red Ash Coal & Coke Co.'s mines at Red Ash, opposite Echo, Fayette county, thirty miles west of this place. The loss of life is appalling.

The cause of the explosion is unknown, but supposed to have been caused by a miner entering an unused room in the mines with an open lamp. Fire Creek, W. Va., March 8.-The rescuing parties continue working hard at Red Ash mine in removing debris and securing the bodies of the victims of the explosion of Tuesday. It is still impossible to give the exact number of the victims or to identify all of the bodies that have been recovered. The most conservative estimate of some of those connected with the mine places the number of killed at 40, and there are others who insist that the number of victims will be found to reach twice that many. Thirty-four bodies have been rescued, 29 being dead and five seriously injured. Those rescued alive are Carl Downey, John L. Day, Joseph Elliott, John Kane and Harry Dawson. While the surviving miners and others estimate that there are at least 39 miners still entombed, General Manager Howell says there were still in the mine only 36. The estimate of the latter would indicate that there were 70 killed and five injured, as it is conceded that all those still in the mine are dead.

It will probably require two days to men can work but a few minutes at a time. There are 15 mules in the mine, and six have been found alive, but there are no hopes of any of the men being taken out alive. The odor of the gas from the mouth of the mine can be smelled for three miles. No mines are running near by, and the excitement is increasing.

No definite cause for the explosion has yet been learned by Gov. Atkinson, the state and district mine inspectors and others who are interested in the case. In addition to the theories of dust, fire damp, etc., it was claimed that natural gas had escaped into the mine and that it ignited when the miners entered with their lamps.

THE CELESTIAL EMPIRE.

Empress Dowager's Coup d'Etat is Likely to Cause a Civil War in That Country.

Victoria, B. C., March 8.—According to Asiatic advices by the steamer Empress of India the recent coup d'etat of the empress dowager of China, in which the emperor, Kwang Su, was dethroned and the 6-year-old son of Prince Tuan named as his successor, bids fair to embroil the Celestial empire in a civil war. At Swatow the Chinese are already in revolt, and in many other parts of the empire they are taking up arms against the empress and the Manchus. The reform party, which is at the head of the movement to foment rebellion, is in receipt of a telegram from Kang Yu Wei, sent from Singapore, in which he says he can raise an army of 40,000.

The China Gazette says the empress dowager and her advisers, being afraid of a revolution in Pekin, have applied to the Russian government for help, and that the Japanese government has promised.

Telegrams from Pekin to Japanese papers say it is reported that Russia has sent warships to the mouth of Yalu river.

A CONFLAGRATION.

Fire in the Retail Dry Goods District of Philadelphia Destroyed About $700,000 Worth of Property.

Philadelphia, March 8.-A fire, entailing an estimated loss of over $700,-000, occurred early Wednesday in the retail dry goods district. The conflagration originated in the engine room of Shoneman Bros.' dry goods and millinery store, at Eighth and Arch streets. The building was Tshaped, fronting on three streets, Eighth, Arch and Cherry. The engine room was in the basement at the center of the structure. It is said that while the fire was being drawn from the furnaces, sparks communicated with some waste paper, and the get them out, as the gas is so strong little blaze spread with astonishing rapidly to the upper floors. This was at 7:15 o'clock, and the employes had not yet arrived.

A general alarm was sounded, but all efforts to save the building were fruitless, and it was leveled. The loss is placed at $300,000.

TEST OF ENDURANCE.

All Hope of a Settlement in the Near Future of the Big Strike in Chicago.

It is now believed by many leaders on both sides that the combination of strike and lockout in Chicago will develop into a simple test of endurance.

FORTY WERE KILLED.

Another Battle Between the Mexican Troops and the Maya Indians Near Aguda.

Oaxaca, Mexico, March 8.-News has eached here of another hard fight between a force of about 300 Maya Indians and 1,000 government troops. The battle took place near the town of Aguda. Col. Fernando Gonzales, who is a member of President Diaz's personal staff, was in command of the government forces which made the attack on the Indians.

The Mayas were strongly entrenched, but were driven from their position by the terrible fire which was poured in upon them from an advantageous position. Thirty-seven Indians were killed and a large number wounded. Three soldiers were killed. Over 300 guns, which were thrown away by the Indians in their flight before the government troops, were afterward picked up by the latter.

Gen. Wheeler Permitted to Land.

San Francisco, March 8.-Gen. Jo seph Wheeler and party, who have been in quarantine since their arrival from the Philippines on the transport Warren last Monday, were permitted to land. Gen. British Troops Invade Transvaal Soil-rlying Column Gets in Via Zuluiand and Skirmishes With the Boers Daily.

London, March 6 .- Mafeking is to be relieved as soon as the British force already on the way to Kimberley can raise the siege. This force is described vaguely as "strong." In view of the fact that the Kimberley light horse is under the control of the DeBeers Co., Lord Roberts' visit to Kimberley probably had to do with an arrangement with Cecil Rhodes to use this company of troops.

London, March 6 .- Winston Churchill, describing the relief of Ladysmith in a dispatch published by the Morning Post, says:

"It has been effected at a cost of apward of 5,000 officers and men in an army only 25,400 strong."

He goes on to pay a high tribute to Sir Redvers Buller, emphasizing the confidence his men had in him, "without which the enterprise could hardly have succeeded." Of Gen. Buller's attack on February 27 Mr. Churchill says: "Considered in itself, it was a masterpiece, soundly conceived, boldly launched and skillfully executed." He adds that "Much also was due to the greatly improved intelligence department."

Mr. Churchill points out that the Boers now hold Van Renen's pass, but that a majority of the Free Staters have accompanied the Transvaalers northward.

London, March 8.-The war office has posted the following advices from Lord Roberts, dated at Poplar Grove, Wednesday evening, March 7:

"We had a very successful day and have completely routed the enemy, who are in full retreat.

"The position which they occupy is extremely strong and cunningly arranged with a second line of entrenchments, which would have caused us heavy loss had a direct attack been made. The turning movement was necessarily wide, owing to the nature of the ground, and the cavalry and artillery horses are much done up.

"The fighting was practically confined to the cavalry division, which, as usual, did exceedingly well, and Gen. French reports that the horse artillery batteries did great execution among the enemy.

"Our casualties were about 50. I regret to say that Lieut. Keswick was killed and Lieut. Bailey was severely wounded, both of the 12th lanciers. Lieut. De Crespigny, of the 2d life guards, was severely wounded. The remaining casualties will be telegraphed to-morrow.

The correspondents differ as to the enemy's strength. The Daily Mail's representative thinks the Boers number something more than 4,000. The Daily News man estimates them at 10,000. As these figures come from observers at headquarters, it is clear that Lord Roberts' force was overwhelmingly superior. He can scarcely have fewer than 45,000 immediately available, as the guards brigade reached him from Lord Methuen Tuesday. volunteers and the local forces at Kimberley, some of whom have gone toward Mafeking.

London, March 8 .-- A dispatch to the Times from Osfontein, dated Tuesday, March 6, says: "A commando of 3,000 Boers has offered to surrender, but on impossible terms. Gen. ## FIFTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

First Session.

Washington, March 1.—Senate—The bill providing a form of government for the lerritory of Hawali was passed without division. Mr. Clay (Ga.) delivered a carefully prepared speech on the Philippines. He favored the adoption of the Bacon resolutions declaring it to be the policy of the United States to turn over the islands to the Filipinos as soon as a stable government could be established by them under the protection of this country. The Porto kican tariff bill was made the unlinished business, and will be considered as soon as the conference report on the as soon as the conference report on the inished business, and will be considered as soon as the conference report on the mance bill shall have been disposed of next Tuesday.

House—The democrats scored their first victory of the session on the motion to take up the contested election case of Aldrich vs. Robbins from the Fourth Alamama district. On two separate votes the democrats, with the aid of two republicans—Mr. Mondell, of Wyoming, and H. C. Smith, of Michigan—beat the republicans upon the question of consideration. An agreement was made to consider the Loud bill relating to secondclass mail matter March 20. A bill passed to grant an American register to the ship Windward, in which Lieut. Perry will make an attempt to reach the north pole. Washington, March 2.—Senate—Interest in the Porto Rican tariff measure now has been transferred from the house to the senate. Consideration of the bill embodying substantially the provisions of the house bill, and in addition providing for a temporary form of civil government for the island of Porto Rico, was begun, several speeches being made. An hour and a half of the session was devoted to consideration of the Quay case, Mr. Hoar (Mass.) presenting an able constitutional argument in favor of seating Mr. Quay on the ground, mainly, that it was the intention of the framers of the constitution that the senate at all times should have its full quota of members. House—Within two hours of a special message from the president recommending the immediate passage of a bill to place in his hands all the moneys collected upon Porto Rican goods since the Spanish evacuation of the island to be used for the relief of the Porto Ricans, had been read to the house, the house had passed and sent to the senate a bill to carry out the recommendation. The bill was passed by a vote of 182 to 107, 13 democrats, two populists and two silver republicans in the affirmative. Subsequently the Aldrich-Robbins contested election case from the Fourth Alabama district, which the house twice refused to consider, was taken up, 136 to 129, an

sider, was taken up, 136 to 129, and was debated for the remainder of the day. Washington. March 3.—Senate—Without dissent, a resolution was adopted calling on the secretary of war for the courtmartial proceedings held during the war against Adjt. Gen. Corbin. The Quay resolution was taken up and Mr. Ross, of Wermont. argued against the seaung of Mr. Quay. Mr. Teller, of Colorado, delivered a lengthy speech on the conference report on the financial bill. The senate adjourned early on account of the death of Representative Epes, of Virginia. House—A joint resolution was passed for the government acquisition of a certain reservation of great trees in California. Mr. Hay, of Virginia, then announced the death of Representative Epes, of Virginia, which occurred Friday night. A committee of 18 members was appointed by the speaker to act with a senate committee as a funeral escort. As further mark of respect to the deceased, the house then adjourned until Monday. Washington, March 5.—Senate—Mr. Carter, of Montana, dealt vigorously with the Quay case in the senate in the course of an explanantion as to why he will vote for the former senator from Pennsylvania, notwithstanding he voted against the seating of Mr. Corbett in the last congress. The near approach to the time of voting on the conference report on the financial bill brought out the speeches on that measure, one by Mr. Fairbanks, of Indiana, and the other by Mr. Butler, of North Carolina.

dama, and the other by Air. Butler, of orth Carolina.

House— The following bills were passer:
The state of Wyoming to relinquish the United States about 6,000 acres of a granted the state at the time of adission for university purboses and sect other lands in lieu thereof; to issue patent to a tract of land at El Reno, tale for cemetery purposes; to extend time for completing the bridges across a East river between Long Island and the Wyork; to prevent forest fires; to tify a treaty with the Comanche, Kiowa de Apache Indians and open their lands a settlement; to adjust the rights of izen settlers on the Navajo Indian resvation; to authorize white persons who we intermartied with Cherokee Indians rivation; to authorize white persons who have intermarkied with Cherokee Indians of bring suits in the court of claims. Washington, March 6.—Senate—A resolution was adopted directing the secreary of the interior to place under bond the "Mammoth Tree grove" and the South Park grove of big trees" in Calveras and Toulumne counties, California, the idea being that the government incuring the groves. The conference report on the financial bill was agreed to by a vote of 44 to 25, the report thus having a majority of 18. Early in the session discussion of the Quay case was resumed, Mr. Simon replying to the speech made by Mr. Carter, of Montana.

House—The entire day was spent in considering the Aldrich-Robbins contested election case from the Fourth Alabama district. Mr. Robbins, the sitting member, made a speech of an hour in his own behalf. The other speakers were Mr. Burkett, in behalf of the contest, and meers. Glenn and DeArmond for the Washington, March 7.—Senate—Mr. Sullivan offered a resolution that the Philippine islands are the rightful property, honorably acquired, of the United States;

and that "while the misguided Filipinos continue the present war, brought on by them against the rightful authority of the United States, so long as a single gun in their hands is trained upon our flag, no expression of intention as to the future course of the United States with respect to them, should be made by the senate."
Mr. Sullivan asked that the resolution lie on the table until he should call it up.
Mr. Lodge then addressed the senate on the Philippine question in which he wanted the president invested with the power to govern the islands until congress takes

House—The house was in session but E minutes, adjourning out of respect to the memory of the late Representative Harmer, of Pennsyavania, "the father of the house." The usual committee was appointed to attend the funeral. The vote on the Aldrich-Robbins contested election case, which was to have been taken was postpened.

Washington, March 8 .- The ratifications of the Somoan arbitration treaty were exchanged at the state department at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by Secretary Hay for the United States; Lord Pauncefote for Great Britain ,and Dr. Von Hollenben for Germany. The treaty submits the claims to the arbitration of King Oscar of Sweden.

Favorable Report on the Bill.

Washington, March 8.-The senate committee on appropriation Wednesday authorized a lavorable report on the house bill providing that the revenues colected from Porto luco be expended in that island. The bill was amended so as to include only the money collected to January 1,1900. The clause of the house bill authorizing the refunding of future revenue collections was stricken out.

Washington, March 7.-Provisions Rooms 10 and 12. will be made in this year's naval appriation bill for a construction programme fully equal to the expecta- PARIS, - - - KENTUCKY. tion of the friends of the service.

The bill will probably be reported by the house committee on naval affairs before the end of the present week. It is still subject to change, but as it now stands, it provides for two large battleships, three armored cruisers of 13,500 tons displacement, three protected cruisers of 8,000 tons displacement, and four gunboats of 900 tons displacement.

The committee has not yet fixed the size of the battleships, but they will probably be 14,500 or 15,060 tons. The armored cruisers are to have high speed and large coal capacity, with the heaviest armor and armament possible to be carried on vessels of their ype. The three protected cruisers are to be improved Olympias. The gunboats are to be designed with special reference to their use among the Philippines.

CHAPTER I.

Something unusual was going on at division headquarters and the men in the nearest regimental camps, regular and volunteer, were "lined up" along the sentry posts and silently, eagerly watching and waiting. For a week rumor had been rife that orders for a move were coming, and the brigades hailed it with delight. For a month shivering at night in dripping, drenching fogs drifting in from the Pacific, or drilling for hours each day on the bleak slopes of the Presidio heights, they had been praying for something to break the monotony of the routine. They were envious of the comrades who had been shipped to Manila, emulous of those who had stormed Santiago, and would have welcomed with unreasoning enthusiasm any mandate that bore promise of change of scene-or duty. The afternoon was raw and chilly; the wet wind blew salt and strong from the westward sea, and the mist rolled in, thick and fleecy, hiding from view the familiar landmarks of the neighborhood and forcing a display of lamplights in the row of gaudy saloons across the street that bounded the camp ground toward the setting sun, though that invisible luminary was still an hour high and afternoon drill only just over.

Company after company in their campaign hats and flannel shirts, in worn blue trousers and brown canvas leggings, the men had come swinging in from the broad driveways of the beautiful park to the south and, as they passed the tents of the commanding general, even though they kept their heads erect and noses to the front, their wary eyes glanced quickly at the unusual array of saddled horses, of carriages and Concord wagons halted along the curbstone, and noted the number of officers grouped about the gate. Ponchos and overcoat capes were much in evidence on every side as the men broke ranks, scattered to their tents to stow away their dripping arms and belts, and then came streaming out to stare, unrebuked, at headquarters. It was still early in the war days, and, among the volunteers and, indeed, among regiments of the regulars whose ranks were sprinkled with college men who had rubbed shoulders but a few months earlier with certain subalterns, the military line of demarcation was a dead letter when "the boys" were out of sight and hearing of their seniors, and so it happened that when a young officer came hurrying down the pathway that led from the tents of the general to those of the field officers of the Tenth California, he was hailed by more than one group of regulars along whose lines he passed, and, as a rule, the query took the terse, soldierly form of "What's up, Billy?"

The lieutenant nodded affably to several of his fellows of the football field, but his hand crept out from underneath the shrouding cape, palm down, signaling caution. "Orders-some kind," he answered in tones just loud enough to be heard by those rearest him. "Seen the old man anywhere? The general wants him," and, never halting for reply, the youngster hurried on.

lad of 20 who six months earlier was stumbling through the sciences at the great university on the heights beyond the glorious bay, never dreaming of deadlier battle than that in which his pet eleven grappled with the striped team of a rival college. The only son of a retired with the force of a baseball bat. colonel of the army who had made Caliin camp and field and saddle and knew his class when, sorely against the will of most, they entered the student battalion, he promptly won the highest chevious that could be given in the sophomore year, and, almost as promptly, lost them for "lates" and absences. When the 'varsity was challenged by a neighboring institute to a competitive drill the "scouts" of the former reported that the crack company of the San

Pedros had the snappiest captain they ever saw, and that, with far better material to choose from, and more of it. the 'varsity wouldn't stand a ghost of a show in the eyes of the professional judges unless Billy would "brace up" and "take hold." Billy was willing as Barkis, but the faculty said it would put a premium on laxity to make Billy a 'varsity captain, even though the present incumbents were ready, any of them, to resign in his favor. "Prex" said no in no uncertain terms: the challenge was declined, whereat the rival institute crowed lustily and the thing got into the papers. As a result a select company of student volunteers was formed; its members agreed to drill an hour daily in addition to the prescribed work, provided Billy would "take hold" in earnest, and this was the company that, under his command, swept the boards six weeks later and left San Pedro's contingent an amazed and disgusted crowd. Then Billy went to metaphorical pieces again until the war clouds overspread the land; then like his father's son he girded up his loins, went in for a commission and won. And here he was a "sub" in Uncle Sam's stalwart infantry with three classmates serving under him in the ranks and half a dozen more, either as junior officers or enlisted men, in the camps of the volunteers. He was a handsome boy, a healthy, hearty boy, and, as boys go, rather a good boy-a boy in whom his mother would have found, had she not long since been lifted above the cares of this world, much of comfort and more to condone, but a boy, nevertheless, who had given his old dragoon of & dad many an anxious hour. Now, just as he neared the legal dividing line between youth and years of discretion. Billy Gray had joined the third battalion of his regiment, full of pluck hope and health, full of ambition to make a name for himself in a profession he loved as, except his father, he certainly loved nothing else, and utterly scoffing the idea that there might come into his life a being for the sake of

Lawrence. "Who are the women folks up at headquarters, Billy?" asked a youth of his own years and rank, peering eagerly through the drifting mist at the dim,

"What's wanted?" called a voice from the biggest of the neighboring tents, and a close-cropped head was thrust out between the front tent flaps. "That you, Billy? Who wants the colonel? He and the "brig" rode over to the Presidio an hour ago-ain't got back. Come in; I've started a fire in our oil stove." A puff of warm air blew from the interior and confirmed the statement. It was well along in summer, and not a dozen miles away to the east men were strolling about with palm-leaf fans and wilted collars. Here, close to the gray shores of the mighty sea, blankets and overcoats were in demand. Hospitably the older officer tugged at the lacings of the military front door, swore be-He was a bright, cheery, brave-eyed tween his set teeth when the knots, swollen by the wet, withstood his efforts, and then shouted:

Couldn't you see how many young fellows were posing in picturesque attitudes in front of it? Awe, Hank!" he suddenly shouted to an officer striding past the tent in dripping mackintosh. 'Goin' up to division headquarters? Just tell the staff or the chief I've sent an orderly galloping after Squeers. He's half way to the Presidio now, but it'll be an hour before they can get back." The silent officer nodded and went on, whereat Gordon made a spring for the entrance and hailed again.

"Say, Hank! Who are the damsels?" The answer came back through the

"Wasn't presented," was the sulky reply. "Let a lot of stuffy old women show up in search of long-lost sons and those fellows at headquarters unload them on us in less than no time, but a brace of pretty girls-! Why, they double the gate guards so that no outsider can so much as see them. Billy, here, knows 'em. Ask him."

By this time the youngster had ranged up alongside the adjutant and was laughingly enjoying the latest arrival's tirade at the expense of the headquarters' staff, but at his closing words Lieut. Billy's grin of amusement sudden left his face, giving way to a lock of blank amaze.

"I know 'em! I haven't been east of the Big Muddy since I was a kid."

"They asked for you, just the same, just after you started. 'Least one of 'em did-for What's-his-name?-the chief military legal adviser, came out bareheaded and called after you, but you were out of hearing. He said the cousin, the prettiest one, recognized you as you skipped away from the general's tent, and pointed you out to her friend. Somebody explained you were running an errand for one of those aids too lazy to go himself, and that you'd be back presently."

"Then go at once, young man," said the adjutant, laying a mighty hand on the junior's square shoulder. "Stand not upon the order of your going, but git! Never you mind about the colonel. He won't be here until after he's been there, and he's in for a rasping over this morning's inspection. Just look at the report, Sergeant major send me Col. Colt's report!" he called aloud, tossing his head back as he spoke. "Yome in, Parson, come out of the wet." And, eager enough to read a famous inspector's criticisms of the appearance of the regiment, the officer addressed as Parson shoved briskly into the tent. The young soldier who had opened the tent flap a few minutes before came forward with a folded paper which, in silence, he handed the adjutant and took the paper, but his eyes followed the soldier. Then he called, somewhat

What is it, orderly?" he finished, sudsider. What tent'd the ladies go to? I denly, as the tent flaps parted and a soldier in complete uniform, girt with "Mrs. Gordon, suh," said the adjutant, his belt of glistening cartridges, stood at salute, some visiting eards in his gloved hand.

"Lieut. Gray here, sir?" was the comprehensive answer. Then, catching sight of the young officer, who stepped quickly forward, he held forth the cards.

"The adjutant general's compliments, sir, and he'd be glad if the lieutenant would come over at once."

Gray took the cards, curiously studied them and then read aloud, one after the other, and placing the topmost underneath the other two as soon as read. "MR. LISPENARD PRIME."

'MISS PRIMI

"MISS AMY LAWRENCE." It was the last name that lay uppermost at the end and the Parson noted it.

"That's the pretty cousin, Billy," quoth he. "Case of the last shall be runaway. Oid gent, pretty daughter, first, don't you see? Scoot now, you lucky boy, and tell us all about it later.' But Gray was still gazing dreamily at the cards. "I'm sure I never met any of them before in my life," said he. "There must be some mistake. Yet-that name sounds familiar-somehow," and "that" was the only name now in sight. "I'm off," he suddenly announced, and vanished.

There was a sound of light, quick footsteps on the flooring of the rearward tent at the same time. The sergeant major glanced up from his writing; looked at a vacant desk, then at the clock, then, inquiringly, at his regi mental deity-the adjutant. It was just the hour of the day at which all manner of papers were coming down from division and brigade headquarters to be duly stamped, noted and stacked up for the colonel's action This was the young clerk Morton's especial function, but Morton had left the office and was gone. WICKED-LOOKING WEAPON.

Description of the Mauser Pistol That Is to Be Used by United States Cavairymen.

"The new Mauser pistol, with which our cavalry is about to be armed, is a horrible looking piece of machinery, said an esthetic sportsman the other day. "It doesn't resemble a firearm at all, but looks like some strange scientific instrument, such as one might see in a laboratory. Imagine a cigar box japanned black, with a handle at one end and a short tube at the other, and there you have it. The box contains the mechanism and the tube spouts bullets. The cavalryman of the past was a dashing figure. He wore a steel cuirass and a helmet with nodding plumes, and while he carried a brace of pistels in his holsters, his real weapon was his trusty saber. Do you remember the splendid fellows who are galloping past Napoleon in Meissonier's '1807? Since then science has gradually sucked all the poetry out of war and the Mauser pistol is the last work of brutal utilitarianism. The cavalryman of the future will earry nothing but a small black walnut box, and will closely resemble a surgeon going out to operate for appendicitis. When he gets to the right spot, designated by the engineer corps, he will dismount, open the box, take out his hideous Mauser machine, hook the ease to one end, so as to form a shoulder rest, spray a few quarts of projectiles in a given direction and go home again to rest after the fatigue of the fray. If the calculations of the range finder are all right his bullets perforate somebody a mile away. That will be war a la mode. In some respects it is a great improvement on the old style, but it will inspire no poets. Imagine Tennyson writing the 'Charge of the Light Brigade' about a cavalry regiment armed with Mauser automatics."-Chicago Chronicle.

THE BRUTE KEPT HIS SEAT.

Indignant Recital of Her Woes by an Incensed Woman on a Carette.

"The consistency of man," said a woman, bracing one small foot against the opposite seat of the carette and jabbing her hat pin in securely, "is not startlingly self-evident."

The two ladies put their nickels in the two little railroads, bet chooclates on which would reach the box first, ate their bets and the philosopher resumed:

"He cursed loudly and picturesquely at the theater hat with its pyramidal trimmings, and the theater hat became in consequence extinct. He still, however, with the sublime nonchalance of his species, continues to walk all over woman's feet and crush her gown and upset her equanimity by his regular entr'-act excursions out to 'see a man,' because he knows she will have to look amiable or her escort will think she has an impossible disposition."

She looked aggrieved and her companion handed her the chocolate box

She ate another chocolate hurriedly. "Now he busies himself behind one of those horrid newspapers, and just because a few women were rude to him he is rude to all the women, and those straps are so awfully high and everything-!"

She sighed and mournfully selected an almond bonbon.

"And vesterday on the Alley 'L' I was brella handle punch through his old -on his hat. Of course I apologized sweetly and looked so distressed. But he only turned to the sporting page and never stirred in his seat. So I stood all over his feet and pretended the crowd pushed me from behind, and I just bore down as hard as I could. The depravity of man was too much for speech for several blocks. The carette rumbled mournfully on. The chocolate box was empty.

"At last," she whispered, "at last he actually got up. I had triumpde! thanked him ecstatically and effusively. I showered smiles into his face as he removed aside and I sat down. And as I beamed up at him the train stopped at Sixty-first. And, my dear!-the brute got off."-Chicago Chronicle.

Nature's Drains.

A careful survey of the underground water courses in the carboniferous limestone district of Yorkshire, England, has revealed one fact that there exists in that county an extensive system of subterranean streams, many of which issue miles away from the points called "sinks," where the water drained from the surface enters the rocks. Similar phenomena in other parts of the world, not yet so carefully investigated, occur on a much larger scale, and recent studies of the ocean bottom near the border of continents have shown that rivers of considera ble size sometimes enter the sea be neath the surface .- Youth's Compan

At Least That Was the Impression She Gave Her Sister Club Members.

"It is simply impossible to keep posted on everything," said a club woman to a Daughter of the American Revolution.

"Yes, indeed, it is," admitted the D. A. R.
"But sometimes, if you are not quite posted, you can wriggle out of a difficult situation without seeming so very important for exwithout seeming so very ignorant. Could Change His Mind.

Prof. Hendershott is well known in Pittsburgh as a man of affable temper, and it is rare that he shows even impatience. One day while traveling on a suburban trolley car to call on a friend, he asked the conductor to transfer him to the city street cars at a certain point. Soon afferward the ductor to transfer him to the city street cars at a certain point. Soon afterward the car stopped and he was surprised to see outside the very friend he was seeking. He started to leave the car, when the conductor accosted him. "You can't change for your car here," he said, brusquely. The professor passed him, taking no notice. "Can't change cars here, I tell you," snapped the conductor again. The professor, deep in conversation with his friend, merely waved his hands to signify that the car might go on without him. "Here," cried the man in brass buttons, angrily, "don't I tell you that you can't change cars at this place?" Then the good old professor answered with severity: "But I can change my mind at this station, can't I?"—Golden Days.

BILL SCROGGINS DID IT AND THEN DISAPPEARED.

The Singular History of a Peculiar Character Who Located Wells For Missouri Farmers and Juggled With Trained Snakes.

Rev. Bill Scroggins was a character in a border county of Missouri in 1844. How he acquired the ecclesiastical prefix and what he did under the title were stories which used to be told in the farmhouses of what is now known

They said he had been a snake charmer when he was a young man, that he traveled about the country as a sort of magician and that he showed farmers with his divining rod where to dig wells.

The people of what was then a frontier country assembled once a year in their respective communities and held camp meetings. On one of these religious occasions Bill followed the crowd with his bag of reptiles. The minister, an old man whose face was like that of a patriarch, told the story in a sermon of Moses lifting up the brazen serpent in the camp of Israel under the command of Jehovah. The Missouri farmer who used to entertain travelers with the recital said that the congregation was not particularly moved by the appeal, but after its delivery Bill Scroggins got up and announced that he had a bag of real, crawling, hissing reptiles which he would exhibit after dinner just outside the camp ground, and he claimed that he would show the people some snake tricks which would beat the Mosaic story they had just heard.

In spite of the protest of the minister the people turned out to the live snake show, and Bill gave them an exhibition which was a great success. It is said, or it used to be said, that there wasn't a snake trick which Bill Scroggins' serpents didn't do. When the exhibition was over, Bill told the people that he was a sort of missionary himself in connection with his business of locating wells and that he would call on each member in the evening and advise with them as to their spiritual and worldly wants.

When he called, his first question was, "Have you got a well?" If the reply was in the negative, and wells were scarce, Bill informed the member that he must have one located, and then he opened his bag of snakes and as they began crawling Bill lifted up his voice and called the people to repentance. He told them the snakes would do no harm if they (the people) would give him the job of locating

It was a tax on human belief, but the Missourian who told the story vouched for the truth of his assertion that the people gave Bill more orders than he could fill in one season and He was the first heretic in the west, although the word was unknown in that country then.
